DETAILED ACTION

An examination of this application reveals that applicant is unfamiliar with patent prosecution procedure. While an inventor may prosecute the application, lack of skill in this field usually acts as a liability in affording the maximum protection for the invention disclosed. Applicant is advised to secure the services of a registered patent attorney or agent to prosecute the application, since the value of a patent is largely dependent upon skilled preparation and prosecution. The Office cannot aid in selecting an attorney or agent.

A listing of registered patent attorneys and agents is available on the USPTO Internet web site <http://www.uspto.gov> in the Site Index under "Attorney and Agent Roster." Applicants may also obtain a list of registered patent attorneys and agents located in their area by writing to the Mail Stop OED, Director of the U. S. Patent and Trademark Office, PO Box 1450, Alexandria, VA 22313-1450.

Oath/Declaration

1. The oath/declaration is objected to because of the following stated reasons:
 - It does not state that the person making the oath or declaration believes the named inventor or inventors to be the original and first inventor or inventors of the subject matter which is claimed and for which a patent is sought.

Art Unit: 3628

- The specification to which the oath or declaration is directed has not been adequately identified. See MPEP § 602.
- It does not state that the person making the oath or declaration has reviewed and understands the contents of the specification, including the claims, as amended by any amendment specifically referred to in the oath or declaration.
- It does not state that the person making the oath or declaration acknowledges the duty to disclose to the Office all information known to the person to be material to patentability as defined in 37 CFR 1.56.
- The clause regarding "willful false statements ..." required by 37 CFR 1.68 has been omitted.
- It does not identify the citizenship of the inventor.

Drawings

2. The following informality has been noted and requires correction in response to this Office Action. Since figures must be numbered separately, i.e. "Figure 1A," "Figure 1B," etc. The drawings are objected to because no FIG numbers are shown in the drawing sheets. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: since no FIG numbers are shown in the drawing sheets, the office do not know which figures are being described. Further, the brief description of the drawings are incomplete. Appropriate corrections are required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

5. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. All the recited steps in claims 1-4 appear to be directed to a computer software/program.

Software, programming, instructions or code not claimed as encoded on computer-readable media are descriptive material per se and are not statutory because they are not capable of causing functional change in a computer. When such descriptive material is recorded on some computer-readable medium it becomes structurally and functionally interrelated to the medium and will be statutory in most cases.

Furthermore, software, programming, instructions or code not claimed as being computer executable are not statutory because they are not capable of causing functional change in a computer. In contrast, when a claimed computer-readable medium encoded with a computer program defines structural and functional interrelationships between the computer and the program, and the computer is capable of executing the program, allowing the program's functionality to be realized, the program will be statutory.

Claims 1-4 are therefore rejected where there is no indication that the proposed software is recorded on computer-readable medium and/or capable of execution by a computer. Examiner suggests that the applicant incorporate into

Claims 1-4 language that the proposed software is recorded on computer-readable medium and capable of execution by a computer to overcome this rejection. Correction required. See MPEP § 2106 [R-2].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 103 as being unpatentable over applicant's disclosure (see background of the invention). The applicant discloses that "The Invention pertains the field of endeavor of the solicitation, processing, approval, and extension of credit to qualified loan applicants. The Invention allows these processes, traditionally conducted with ink and paper, to be conducted electronically by means of the Internet, the World Wide Web, wireless and other telecommunications systems" (see background of the invention, paragraph 0001). The application also discloses that "The Invention presents a means by which a particular paper process--the processing of loans and mortgage loans--may be conducted entirely or in part in digital or electronic form using any of a number of telecommunications technologies in an environment that is technologically secure and legally private and reliable" (see background of the invention, paragraph 0003). Thus, It was known at the time of the invention that merely providing an automatic means to replace a manual activity (i.e., paper process) which accomplishes the same result is not sufficient to distinguish over the prior art, In re Venner, 262 F.2d 91, 120 USPQ 193, 194 (CCPA 1958). In other words, there is no enhancement found in the claimed step other than the known advantage of increased speed/cost-effective safeguards/data integrity and reliability. The end result is the same as compared to the manual method (i.e., ink and paper process). It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to automate the step of solicitation, processing, approval, and extension of credit to qualified loan applicants because this would speed up the determining step and preserve security of data transmissions which is purely known and expected result from automation of what is known in the art.
